

This is the sketch for the home page of Clover Traffic Connections. This will allow users to view any page after just one click.

Clover Traffic Connections

All buttons will be given an appropriate label.

We hope to also set up a tiny animation or color change when the user is hovered over a button to indicate which button is active.

After the user is off the home page, every other page will have a home button in the corner to return to this home page.